The DIMMER VIEW

Demo Poll With GOP Outlook

State Senator Bob Wilson, a Democrat, may have been surprised by the outcome of a poll he took in November—but if he was, he didn't indicate it.

He polled approximately 11,000 of his constituents on 12 major concerns. Property tax relief was not among them.

What is surprising about the outcome is that the questionnaire was devised by a Democrat but the answers have all the coloration of the Republicans. It may mean that the pendulum, so long swinging to the left, may have started the opposite cycle.

Look at these answers: (Difference between answers and 100% is "No Opinion")

SHOULD TEACHERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO STRIKE?

Yes—25.7%; No—70.2%

SHOULD FIREFIGHTERS AND POLICE HAVE THE RIGHT TO STRIKE?

Yes—16%; No—80.2%

SPECIAL (College) ADMISSION FOR MINORITIES

Yes—8.5%; No—87.9%

RAISE ACADEMIC STANDARDS?

Yes—58.5%; No—30.5%

ABOLISH PRESENT SYSTEM OF TENURE?

Yes—53.7%; No—27.4%

SUPPORT MANDATORY BUSING?

Yes—5.5%; No—91%

FAVOR VOUCHER SYSTEM?

Yes—35.2%; No—40.1%

PROHIBIT SMOKING IN PUBLIC PLACES?

Yes—68%; No—26.5%

ELIMINATE BILLBOARDS FROM CALIFORNIA HIGHWAYS?

Yes—64.1%; No—25.8%

MORE ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION?

Yes—40.9%; No—46%

MORE S. CAL. NUCLEAR PLANTS?

Yes—66.3%; No—24.3%

What would the state be if Wilson's poll causes Legislature to follow the will of the people?

Most public servants would be denied the strike privilege. Busing and teacher tenure would end and there would be no college admission advantages in belonging to a minority group. However, there would be no raising of academic standards.

Smoking in public places and billboards on state highways would be banned. There is no need for additional environmental protection but there is for nuclear plants.

A reader would have to look twice to realize that the poll is that of Bob Wilson's, the State Democratic Senator and not one of John Stull's, his Republican counterpart.

Prices Good for 24 Months

How do we know it's spring?

A few days ago the Sears Roebuck semi-annual catalog arrived.

In it were more than 1400 pages of items Mr. and Mrs. Joe Everyman buys during the year. And the prices are good until the next edition—in the fall.

Seniors have come to take the catalog and its price list for granted.

But the newer generation—which has been convinced that you can believe in nothing—probably looks at the semi annual production of the Sears organization with a jaundiced eye.

Why shouldn't it be that way. Young homemakers have been conditioned to pay higher prices for everything everytime another month ticks off.

Yet, here are Mr. Sears and Mr. Roebuck, or their successors, turning out a price catalog which establishes their prices for the coming seasons.

Assuming that there are 25 prices items to each page, the Sears organization has gone out the limb for 35,000 prices for the coming months.

The production of the catalog starts 18 months before it is delivered. The prices in it are good for 6 months. That means that many of the items and their prices have a 24 month life cycle. Few firms today will guarantee prices for more than a month!

Let's hear what W. H. Rens, a Sears executive has to say about the long-range commitment.

"Sears has made a very serious declaration . . . to 15 million American households."

"... our firm (is) guessing what kinds of things Americans are going to buy . . . until fall."

Just how successful has been these forecasts?

One measure of accuracy is the continued popularity of the catalog.

The catalog came into great strength early in this century. At that time in Rural America the catalog was the farmer's link with the big merchandise centers of the Midwest. Rural Free Delivery and Parcel Post brought store-bought merchandise right to his door. Now, less than 1% of all catalog orders come through the mail; most are telephoned in from the kitchen of city dwellers . . . peaking from 9:30 to noon and 2:30 to 4:00 p.m. each day.

Another measure of Sears accuracy in choosing goods the U.S. wants is reflected in the continued growth of the catalog arm of the fifteen billion dollar company (1976 sales). Sears opened the first warehouse and distribution center in Chicago in 1904. Sears now moves catalog merchandise through 14 such centers (called Catalog Merchandise Distribution Centers) that are strategically located for transportation and market advantages in major cities across the country. There are over 900 catalog sales offices in smaller communities and catalog order desks in each of more than 1500 large and small Sears retail stores. In addition, through a partnership arrangement with individuals whom Sears calls "catalog merchants," Sears sells catalog merchandise through more than 1300 additional outlets.

Still another measure of Sears forecasting abilities is demonstrated by those who use the microfilm catalogs up-dated each year and going back to 1886, as an indication of America's life-style in any particular year. These collections are available in the reference departments of libraries or any similar institutions in most large cities.

So those who would like to get a leg-up on what's going to be available at the world's largest store from before June, see a copy of Sears new Spring and Summer catalog, now being distributed.

80 Percent of Lemon Grove Affected

R-1-A Zoning Planned for City

By Max Goodwin

For those who have visions of constructing a second unit on their property, it may be too late.

The Lemon Grove City Council Tuesday night indicated that most of the land in the city should be converted from R-2-A (two unit construction) to R-1-A zoning. R-1-A allows only a single dwelling units on lots 6,000 square feet or more.

The council instructed staff to produce an interim zoning ordinance for the March 6 meeting which would convert approximately 3 square miles of the city's 3.75 square miles into R-1-A.

The area involved—about 80% of the city's area—is just south of the Broadway business district to Lomita Village and west of Sweetwater rd. to the San Diego boundary on the west. However, land already zoned R-1-A, R-3-A, manufacturing or business is not affected.

City manager Jack Shelver reported that R-1-A zoning had been off and on again as the L.G. Planning Association developed the present Community Plan. Interim zoning was in force until it appeared likely that Lemon Grove would incorporate and that a community plan would be adopted.

Shelver also noted that developers had long since eyed the city for multiple unit housing due to the large area which becomes R-2-A each time interim zoning lapses. It is R-2-A at present. He urged council to take action on zoning as an urgency matter.

Mayor Jim Dorman reminded council that the community plan was the result of local residents spending long hours before producing a plan which was responsive to residents' views. "That plan is the best guide for development," he said. He said that having a voice in the development of the community was one of the reasons for incorporation. He, too, said that the ordinance was one of urgency.

That means that the interim ordinance, if adopted at the next meeting—on March 6—would become effective the next day.

The ordinance would have a 4-month life after which council could renew it on an interim basis. In either event a public hearing would be required.

Owners of several parcels in the affected area have taken steps for constructing duplexes, such as asking for annexation to the L.G. Sanitation or putting plans out for bid. Unless a substantial amount of construction is underway by March 7—if the interim ordinance is approved by the council—the projects are dead without a city vari-

Building Ban In Pine Valley Eyed by Sups.

A ground-water study ordered by the County Board of Supervisors may result in a temporary building moratorium in Pine Valley.

The study will embrace the community's public and private wells. The rapid development indicated in the area prompted the study, it was said. An ordinance imposing the moratorium has been ordered and is to be returned to the Board for approval.

A proposed shopping center has been exempted from the moratorium subject to a water line installation requested by the Pine Valley Mutual Water Co., it was said.

If adopted, the ordinance would apply to all construction except single-family dwellings pending the outcome of the water study and subsequent report to the Board.

ance. The temper of the council Tuesday night was that variances would not be easily come by.

The council bulwarked its determination by creating a Planning Commission. Residents who would serve on the non-paying posts of planning commissioners may get applications from City Clerk Karen Thomson at City Hall, Main and North sts.

In other business Council also continued a hearing on a tentative map for development on Sarawak dr. pending the outcome of the March 6 zoning meeting; vacated a portion on Nichols st. as an aid to the Little League Park nearby; approved a joint power agreement between city and school district for lighting and public use of the ballfield at the L.G. Junior High school; approved annexation of the Forbush Annexation to the L.G. Sanitation District (one of the properties likely to be affected by the interim zoning ordinance). The property is on 69th st. near Mallard and Mt. Vernon.

City Manager Shelver reported that none of the $60,000 block grant fund could be used for improving the Berry st. park since less than 50% of the service area of the park is composed of low or moderate income residents.

The funds would be used for curbs, gutters and drainage construction north of the Broadway business district instead.

The meeting this week was delayed a day due to the Monday holiday. Meetings are now held in the Community Center on School lane on first and third Monday at 7:30 p.m.

INVESTIGATION into the cause of a fire which destroyed the home of Mrs. Jerri DeFrates continues. The home sustained an estimated $48,000 damage.

LG Home Destroyed by Fire

The cause of a fire which caused an estimated $48,000 damage to the home of Mrs. Jerri DeFrates, 8333 Golden ave., Lemon Grove, is left undetermined pending further investigation by the Lemon Grove Fire Department.

The fire which began 12:59 a.m. on February 9, is thought to have started in the kitchen.

According to Mrs. DeFrates, flames engulfed the home in a matter of minutes.

"There seemed to be football shaped balls of fire dropping from the ceiling as if someone was throwing them," she related.

She added it was a matter of minutes before two-foot-high clouds of black smoke covered the floors of the dwelling.

"The only thing I could think about was getting my three-year-old granddaughter out of the living room," she continued.

Asleep on a living room couch was three-year-old Missy Storm who was visiting when the fire occurred.

According to LG Fire Chief John Ott, the "football shaped balls of fire" described by Mrs. DeFrates could have been pockets of oxygen or twelve inch ceiling tiles.

The contents of the home were destroyed along with a pet parrot.

Car Fire Damage $200

A deputy sheriff on patrol duty saw smoke coming from a 1969 Dodge Cornet belonging to Guy Donald Karlson, 20, a carpenter of 8643 Rindon ln., Spring Valley.

The deputy notified the S.V. Fire Department about 6 a.m. Wednesday and then Karlson who said that he doesn't smoke nor had anyone been in the car who smoked during the past several days.

He filed a $200 arson report with the police.

Camperland Loses $30,000 Motorhome

An auto thief used ingenuity to get a motorhome from the premises of Camperland at 6828 Federal blvd. one night last week.

After entering the premises, presumably by going over the high fence, he used one motorhome to ram the gate making a place big enough to drive another motorhome through.

According to Frank E. Pierson, operator of the firm, the stolen vehicle—a Vogue—worth $30,000 was missing and damage estimated at $4,800 was done to the fence.

$62,500 Sales-Use Tax Funds for L.G.

The City of Lemon Grove received $62,500 of the $140 million distributed last week to California cities and counties from the February allocation of sales use tax receipts.

Cities received $90.7 million and counties got $15.3 million. Counties also got $26.5 million from the one-fourth percent local sales and use tax for the county local transportation fund.

A little more than $8 million was returned to N. state counties which have transit districts.

To compare:

Coronado—$37,500; Imperial Beach—$24,000; San Marcos—$70,000; Vista—$97,500.

La Mesa received $320,000; Oceanside, $207,500; National City—$35,000.

Firemen Go to 'Pot' On Lemon Grove Fire

Lemon Grove firemen responding to a fire at 7173 1/2 North ave. had the blaze under control in time to save the entire structure from going up in flames.

Inside, they found the fire had slightly damaged 560 pounds of green vegetable matter which sheriff's deputies reported looking like marijuana.

The building is owned by Tony Chaves Gamboa who operates a business address at 7368 Broadway in Lemon Grove. Gamboa reported to deputies that he had rented the North ave. building to a Raul Gutierrez in January. Gutierrez was not at the scene.

A witness at the scene described a male who was leaving the building just before the blaze erupted.

State Looking for Owners of Property

SACRAMENTO—State Controller Kenneth Cory reiterated he will try to locate the 77,585 owners of more than $35.1 million worth of unclaimed property.

Some $13 million of the unclaimed property is located in Los Angeles County.

Among the property left unclaimed is savings accounts dormant more than 7 years and unclaimed estate settlements.

Cory said between 35 and 40 percent of the property is returned to original owners.

"But," Cory said, "we would like to see all these people get their money back."

There's An Answer

By Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Sinful or Insane?

Q. More and more women wear pants suits where I go to church. A few say it's wrong.

My grandma says it's wrong to wear them any time.

A book I read said that in olden days a woman who dressed like a man was either sinful or cracked. Is it wrong for a woman to wear slacks and pants suits, especially to church?

A. The worship of God, the Heavenly Father, the King of Kings, the Creator of the Universe, is never to be a light or frivolous act. It one were to be received by the President of the United States, he or she would dress respectfully and appropriately.

Sloppy or ill-considered dress is no sign of respect to the Deity. While we ourselves prefer dresses for women in church, since prevailing style considers pants suits respectable, there is no real reason why such dress should not be acceptable as proper attire for public worship.

Needs to Win

Q. I am a disabled veteran, 28 years old, a college student, have been married almost eight years now and have a son six years old.

Three weeks ago my wife left me and filed for a divorce.

I know she loves me, but she tells me she cannot live with me because I have a bad temper, a negative attitude toward everything and cannot show my love.

I think she is right about my ways. I know with help I can change, and change permanently, and make my wife feel wanted and loved.

I don't think I ever realized how much I love and need my family until now. How can I win my family's love again?

A. The answer to your question is very simple. Change yourself from what you are to what you ought to be.

One of the greatest facts about human nature is that no person needs to remain as he is.

Obviously you know what you should do. Curb that bad temper and change from a negative to a positive attitude.

Granted, that is not all that easy. But I have personally seen thousands of people change. And the best way to do it is let Somebody change you. And you know who that Somebody is!

We have a booklet, "The Power To Change Your Life," which has helped others with problems such as yours, and a copy of it is on its way to you.

Anyone reading this column who would like a free copy of the booklet may obtain one by writing to us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Afraid of Failure

Q. At age 37 my husband returned to school to study mortuary science. It was a hard, grueling program and he literally "sweated it out."

I studied along with him, typed his papers, worked at a job to help pay his fees.

It was a struggle, but we had unshakable faith that God meant this for him.

After four years he graduated and we borrowed heavily and set up our funeral chapel.

My husband is doing a magnificent job for the few families who have come to us, but people in our community continue to go to our only competitor.

Expenses are high and money goes mighty fast. I have gnawing fears and doubts that God doesn't hear us any more.

I don't want to become bitter and have my faith in God weakened by what possibly could be ambition or vanity, or both. I can't seem to find the answer within myself right now.

Please give your suggestions.

A. It is curious that when business doesn't go so good, God is always held accountable for it.

Mortuary work is a business the same as any other form of income-producing activity. First, make sure your community can support a second funeral chapel. Then, study and read and get to understand the principles of communication and personal relationships and human helpfulness.

In due course you will begin to build a clientele. You can establish a growing business if you serve people in a way that is pleasing to them.

Getting bitter isn't going to help you.

On the contrary, it will hurt you, because people will pick it up and avoid doing business with you. But a loving, positive attitude will draw them to you.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

CHAD to Get Half Million From United Way Campaign

The national health agencies of San Diego's Combined Health Agencies Drive (CHAD) will receive approximately $500,000 from the United Way/CHAD Combined Campaign, Kenneth F. Gibson has announced.

Gibson, chairman of the CHAD board of directors, said the health agencies' share of the campaign receipts is larger than projected because the campaign is exceeding its goal.

"We attribute that extra money to the great generosity and compassion of the citizens of San Diego County," Gibson said.

Campaign chairman Kim Fletcher, vice chairman R. R. Richardson and June Crosby, deputy chairwoman, announced February 9 that the campaign had gone "over the top."

So far, campaign receipts total $9,220,189, Fletcher said, exceeding the announced goal of $9,217,000.

According to an agreement renewed each year, Gibson explained, CHAD receives a percentage (this year's share is 8.5 per cent) of contributions to the campaign only from the campaign's commerce and industry and professional division categories.

CHAD agencies do not share in other categories, such as residential, memorial and individual gifts.

Gibson said the campaign agreement provides, however, that donors may designate gifts to CHAD or to individual CHAD agencies if they choose.

The CHAD agencies, he said, will use their share of the Combined Campaign receipts for patient services, public education and grants for research into the causes of disease and development of more effective treatments.

11 national health agencies will share in the campaign receipts this year, Gibson said. They are: American Cancer Society, American Heart Assn., Arthritis Foundation, Easter Seal Society, Muscular Dystrophy Assn., Mental Health Assn., Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, Multiple Sclerosis Society, Society for Prevention of Blindness, American Diabetes Assn. and the Kidney Foundation.

The 12th agency, the North County Assn. for the Retarded, recently joined CHAD and will share in the next Combined Campaign receipts, Gibson said.

This Week's RECIPE

Beefhives

"Beefhives" was the winning entry in the Fourth Annual National Beef Cook-Off held in Columbus, Ohio. Submitted by Mrs. Thelma Herbert of Gnadenhuetten, Ohio, the recipe won her a check for $1,000.

The contest is sponsored each year by the American National CowBelles, the women's auxiliary of the National Cattlemen's Association, and is open to non-professional cooks.

Beefhives

- 2 pounds ground beef chuck
- 2 slices bread, crumbled
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1/4 teaspoon oregano
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup snipped celery leaves
- 1/2 cup snipped parsley
- 1 small green onion (including top)
- 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
- 1 can (17 ounces) apricot halves, drained
- 1/2 cup slivered almonds

Soak bread in milk in mixing bowl; mix well and stir in sour cream. Sprinkle salt seasoned salt, oregano and pepper over meat. Add seasoned ground beef, celery leaves, parsley and onion to sour cream mixture and mix well.

Using a 1/4 cup measure, dip up the meat mixture and place six measurefuls on lightly greased broiler tray or baking pan (approximately 8 by 12 inches), so there is space between each measureful.

Divide cream cheese into six equal parts. Place an apricot half in the center of each portion of meat, pit side up. Place one of the pieces of cheese in each pit cavity and top with a second apricot half, pit side down.

Fingers, Robinson to Top List of Stars at Banquet

Two of San Diego's best-known athletes, Rollie Fingers and Arnie Robinson, have been named the area's Stars of the Year for 1977 and will be among the many sports personalities receiving accolades when the 32nd annual Banquet of Champions is held Friday at the Town & Country Convention Center.

Their selection for the honor was announced by Jim Brown, president of the Balboa Park Hall of Champions which sponsors the yearly event to provide recognition for prominent sports figures. Fingers and Robinson will be honored along with two new Hall of Famers, men and women who were selected as Stars of the Month in 1977 and various others who have made contributions to athletics throughout the county.

Robinson is a repeat winner, having been chosen in 1976 for capturing the Olympic gold medal in the long jump at Montreal. Additionally, during a career which has made him the world's premier long jumper, he has been a Star of the Month on 8 occasions.

In June the former Morse High and San Diego State student won his 5th National AAU championship and later he won the World Cup at Dusseldorf, Germany with a leap of 26 feet 10 1/2 inches. In being elected amateur Star of the Year for the second time Robinson beat out a strong field of candidates.

Fingers topped the list of professionals on the basis of his season-long relief pitching for the San Diego Padres. As early as last May he received a Star of the Month award by racking up 10 saves, five of them in consecutive games. The popular right hander wound up the National League campaign with appearances in 78 contests, and he was credited with 35 saves and an 8-9 won and lost mark.

He worked a total of 132 innings, finished with an ERA of 3.00 and was named "Fireman of the Year" in a poll of circuit baseball writers.

The Banquet of Champions, which is open to the public, gets underway at 7 p.m. in the Convention Center's Presidio Room, and reservations at $12.50 each can be made by calling the Hall of Champions, 234-2544.

Mariners Sign A.L. Right-Winger

The San Diego Mariners have signed right-winger Paul O'Neil bringing to 7 the number of Americans on the team.

O'Neil, 24, comes to the Mariners from the recently folded, Hampton Gulls of the American League. He was the 3rd leading scorer in the league, until he suffered an eye injury. He has recovered from that, and is again ready to play.

O'Neil was drafted by the Vancouver Canucks in 1973, and played that year with the Seattle Totems of the Western Hockey League. In 1974, he played with Seattle in the Central league. He then became the property of the Boston Bruins, and played the next year with Rochester of the American League. Then last season was with Hampton, and he was there until they folded last week.

Coach Butch Barber says, "O'Neil is a real find for us. He will most likely be one of the top players in the league this year."

Coach Barber doesn't know yet when O'Neil will be in uniform, or who will be released to make room for the new Mariner addition.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

It worked all day to warm up to 18-degrees in Buffalo last weekend, but it quickly cooled off to a 5-degree reading when the warming sun went down behind the gray sludge of muddy mounds of old snow that passes for landscape this time of year.

The beaches were filled, the parks overflowing and all of our 75 golf courses were doing a turn away or wait-two-hours business in the warm climate of beautiful San Diego. It is only here that George Washington's birthday signals the beginning of summer.

While this date and time offer a frozen nose in the wasteland of the north-and-east, the sap is freely flowing through our limbs. We should be at peace with the world and happy with the wonderment of the good Lord's blessing on our hunk of the world.

But, perhaps, in some of us, the sap flows too freely and we are not at ease with the tumultuous blessings so broadly bestowed upon domain.

There are those among us who charge from beach into raging rip-currents with a layer of winter's fat across their middle and their brain and not realize until they are being helplessly swept out to sea, they don't swim well enough to be trusted alone in a bathtub.

San Diego's lifeguards were busy as hell over the weekend. More than 60 rescues and aid contacts were reported by San Diego's life saving force. And nearly half were in-the-water rescues and/or assistance to swimmers over their heads in trouble.

There are a number of lesser examples of dangerously pooping oneself out without proper preparation. Out of the water, most only hurt themselves. Tennis players and joggers who over-do it have to walk around with an arm in a sling, an elbow on ice or blisters on their hoofs.

But those spirited souls who think golf is only a game because it looks so easy on television, and rent, borrow or buy clubs because that part is easy too, and invade the golf courses during peak play because that's when everybody else plays, not only undo themselves, which is bad enough, but they make the game a chore for the foursome in front, the backed-up strings of foursomes behind and whomever fate has placed in their company.

All a tennis neophyte can do to annoy other participants of the net world is tie up a court. Joggers can pull up anytime the mood hits them and swimmers have an entire ocean for their frolic.

A first time out golfer, however, can hold up, hold back and halt play for an entire course. And that doesn't even take into measure the steam energy expended by those hardy souls lined up behind them from here to Tucumcari.

It's not because of any pugnaciousness against beginners that tenderfoot teesmiths are subjected here. Lord no. We all started someplace and many of us still play as if it were yesterday.

But there are courtesies and rules of behavior that must be applied by every swinger to allow a course to sustain any amount of play. To ignore them, by measure of many dedicated golfers, is a hanging offense.

So please, in the name of all that is holy from here to Augusta National, before you fondle your first club, see a pro.

Listen up, friend. Take not a lesson from husband or wife. There's too much chance for bodily harm. See a golf pro. Take a real lesson. Take a series. Learn from the top so you won't have to undo anything. Enjoy the game. And let others enjoy it too. Please?

Golf pros are not all that hard to find. There are teaching pros, good teaching pros, on almost every golf course in the area.

And with 75 or so courses around, the opportunity to learn is almost overwhelming. And golf can be fun . . . they tell me.

Patty Berg Due to Play In Crosby-Honda Tourney

The Grand Lady of women's golf is going to be a grand addition to the already premier field for the $165,000 Kathryn Crosby/Honda Civic Golf tournament March 15-19 at Rancho Bernardo golf club.

Patty Berg who founded the Ladies Professional Golf Assn. in 1948 with 11 other charter members, has accepted an invitation to participate in the 72-hole event that has the second largest purse on the women's tour.

"We're thrilled she's coming," said executive director Bob Welsh whose sensitivity for nostalgia and grand traditions last year encouraged Mickey Wright to shuck semi-retirement for the Honda event.

"There's no person in women's golf who has meant any more to the sport."

Wright, amazing as it was, had a strong chance for a dramatic victory, closing to within three shots of the leader Sandra Palmer early in the final round before settling for a tie for 11th.

"I'm not planning on making that type of showing," said the 60-year-old Berg from her Florida home. "But I'm always fit and ready for a challenge."

She played in only 3 events last year, averaging 81 shots a round and it was the only year since 1957 that she didn't earn purse money. They announced her retirement in 1971, she never authorized the announcement, but 3 years later she averaged 72 strokes per round in eight major events.

Berg's career accomplishments are legend: 3 times Women Athlete of the Year, won the Open in 1946 and made a hole in one at the same event 13 years later, twice won in 6 major events during one year, a member of the hall of fame since 1951, has 41 tournament victories since turning professional in 1935.

"Just to see her swing, let alone compete, has to be a thrill for anyone who has ever held a club or knows what one looks like," Welsh said.

Beverly Kloss, the 21-year-old Tarzana pro who shot a front side 30 en route to a 66 in last year's third round before finishing in a tie for fifth, also had entered this year's Honda.

Previously announced players include Kathy Whitworth, Donna Young, Amy Alcott, Laura Baugh, Carol Mann, Pam Higgins, Mary Mills, Bonnie Lauer, Kathy Postlewait, Betty Burfeindt and JoAnn Washam. Tournament officials expect a record 110 entries.

Mariners Call it Jeff Carlson Night Friday at the Arena

San Diego's Mariners take on the Phoenix Roadrunners Friday night at the S.D. Sports Arena. It will be Jeff Carlson night. Carlson was one of the three brothers featured in the movie, "Slapshot."

1,000 horn-rimmed glasses with big noses attached will be distributed free. So there'll be a lot of Carlson look-alikes at the game.

It's also Merchants Night with more than 100 businesses participating. Two TV sets, and $100 worth of aquarium equipment will be given away.

The Mariners will be playing at home on Sunday evening also. The San Francisco Shamrocks will be the visiting team and at will be the second attempt this season to give everyone in the house a free pizza.

Square Pan Pizza will be giving everyone in attendance a free pizza, if the Mariners beat the Shamrocks. The first time the promotion was tried this year, the Mariners' lost.

The Sunday night contest will start at 7 p.m.

Area Outlet Listed For Tee Tickets

Tickets for the $165,000 Kathryn Crosby/Honda Civic Golf Classic March 15-19 may be obtained at the Stanley Andrews Sporting Goods, 478 Fletcher Pkwy.

The 72-hole event will attract the largest field on the LPGA tour and will be played at Rancho Bernardo.

More than 30 celebrities will join the women professionals for the weekend rounds.

Baseball Names Ray Grebey Director of Player Personnel

Ray Grebey, a 28-year veteran of the employee relations field who for the last two years has been in charge of employee relations planning and strategy for the General Electric Company, is Major League Baseball's new Director of Player Relations.

Grebey, 49, of Stamford, Connecticut, succeeds John Gaherin, who has headed baseball's labor relations activities since 1967 and is retiring July 31.

The new Director of Player Relations has been with GE since 1956 in a variety of labor relations positions, including chief spokesman for the company's national bargaining team in 1973 contract negotiations.

"Ray's very broad-based experience in all areas of employee relations and the high regard in which he is held by his peers in this field were the deciding factors in his selection," said Ed Fitzgerald, Chairman of the Board of the Milwaukee Brewers who as Chairman of the Player Relations Committee announced the appointment Tuesday. "Baseball is most happy to have with us this important and demanding position a man with such fine credentials as well as outstanding personal characteristics, including a love for the game of baseball."

Grebey has a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Kenyon College and a Masters Degree from the University of Chicago.

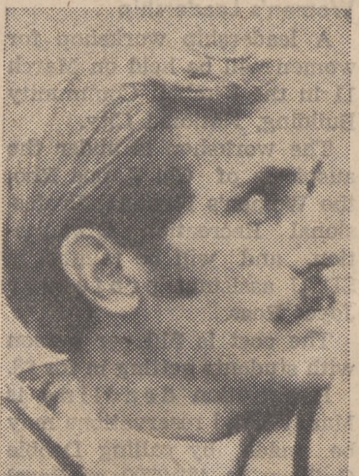

It will be Grebey's first sports-related position but he played both basketball and football at Kenyon College and describes himself as a lifetime sports enthusiast.

New Driver for Miss Budweiser For 1978 Unlimited Hydros

A former Rookie of the Year, Ron Snyder, will replace 1977 champion, Micky Remund as the 'Miss Budweiser's' pilot on the 1978 Unlimited Hydroplane racing circuit this season.

Snyder was signed on by the Unlimited's most successful ful owner, Bernie Little, when Micky Remund retired this month.

"We're extremely optimistic about our chances of winning a 5th national championship in 1978 with Ron Snyder driving 'Miss Budweiser,'" Little said. "The crew is 100 per cent in favor of Ronnie and we're confident that he'll get the job done."

After 10 years of campaigning limited class hydroplanes in the Ohio Valley circuit, the native Ohioan broke into the Unlimited ranks in 1974. In 1976 Snyder ranked 4th nationally and Unlimited officials voted him Rookie of the Year.

"Miss Budweiser" marks Snyder's first top-flight ride in super charged Rolls Royce equipment.

After the initial shock of signing his Budweiser contract wore off, Snyder was already calculating his 1978 strategy, concentrating on the sports toughest competitor, Bill Muncy.

"Bill is the Old Fox of our sport," Snyder said. "Beating him is the biggest challenge in Unlimited hydroplane racing today. I've thought a lot about how I'll handle him this

NASL Soccer Tryouts Set For Saturday

With the 1978 North American Soccer League season fast approaching, S.D. Sockers coach Hubert Vogelsinger has announced a free-agent tryout camp for Saturday at 1 p.m. at Charger Field, adjacent to S.D. Stadium.

On what he expects to find Vogelsinger said, "With the soccer interest in San Diego there could just be one or two youngsters who could help this club. Los Angeles found a good goalkeeper two years ago at just such a camp, and the kid has been with them ever since."

Any soccer players interested in trying out for the Sockers should contact the front office at 280-4625 for exact requirements.

On Wednesday, March 1, Vogelsinger will officially open his pre-season training camp in preparation for the '78 season. Most of the foreign players now on the roster are expected to be on hand for the beginning of camp. San Diego veterans Alan Mayer, Doug Wark, and Gerry Ingram are already in town, and all have been making public appearances for the Sockers.

Two-day workouts will be the format through the first 8 days of March, with the emphasis on physical conditioning. "I'm a real bug on the physical side of soccer," says Vogelsinger, "and my team will be ready on opening day to run the full 90 minutes. Players reporting out of condition will find the early going extremely tough."

Morning workouts will be 4-11, and will be primarily physical training at different sites around S.D. The afternoon sessions will be geared toward soccer skills and team strategy, and will run from 4-6 p.m. All afternoon training will be at Charger Field.

S.D. Crew Classic Set for April 1st

The 1978 San Diego Crew Classic will be one of the top Rowing Regattas in the U.S. The Sixth Classic begins at 8 a.m. April 1 at Mission Bay Park and will bring together the major rowing powers from around the nation.

Eager to establish reputations at the beginning of the season, many teams arrive early to take advantage of San Diego's facilities for training while their home waters are still frozen.

From less than 350 rowers and 11 races in 1973, this year's regatta brings together over 900 young athletes to compete in more than 30 events for both men and women. Heading a strong Eastern contingent are Brown, Cornell, Harvard and Pennsylvania.

The Mid-West returns, after a year's absence, with Wisconsin, and Wichita State. Other squads include British Columbia, Oregon State, and Washington.

Local teams will include SDSU, UCSD, USD, and MBRA. ZLAC Rowing Club, last year's National High School Champions, will also be featured.

Wrestling Titles At Stake Tuesday At SD Coliseum

The American Tag Team Title Championship is being challenged Tuesday night at the S.D. Coliseum when professional wrestlers meet in competition starting at 7:30 p.m.

The newly crowned champs Chavo Guerrero and El Falcon are tested by Outlaw Ron Bass and Victor Rivera. It is believed that the challengers have a good chance at taking the crown.

Outlaw Bass, who is expected to survive the Tag Team battle, is scheduled to risk his coliseum crown against Hector Guerrero.

In a karate match, Dr. Hiro Ota faces Butcher Brannigan. In the opener, Johnny Rivera meets Coloso Colosetti.

The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts. in downtown San Diego.

Chargers to Host Jets Aug. 19 in Pre-Season

The New York Jets, featuring such high-powered offensive players as quarterback Richard Todd, wide receivers Wesley Walker and Richard Caster, and tight end Jerome Barkum, will be the opponents Saturday night, August 19, in the San Diego Chargers' only game at home in the 1978 pre-season.

The contest will begin at 6 p.m. in San Diego Stadium and is part of a four-game pre-season schedule announced by Chargers general manager Johnny Sanders.

The regular season schedule, featuring 8 home games in the expanded 16-game format of the National Football League, will be announced later. The Chargers also will play the Seattle Giants in the pre-season.

The schedule:
Fri. Aug. 4 at Seattle
Sat. Aug. 12 at Los Angeles
Sat. Aug. 19 New York Jets
Sat. Aug. 26 at New York Giants

The four games are the fewest the Chargers have played in the pre-season since 1966. All NFL teams have played 14 regular-season games and 6 pre-season games since 1970. They will play 16 regular-season and four pre-season games beginning in 1978.

The Chargers last played one home pre-season game in 1965, when they opened against Oakland in Balboa Stadium, then played road games against Kansas City, Denver, Oakland, and Houston.

Aztec Hoop Team To Try For Piece of PCAA Title

The S.D. State U. basketball team will try to nail down at least a share of the PCAA title this week as the Aztecs host San Jose State tonight and Pacific Saturday in the final 2 games of the conference race.

San Diego is currently tied with Pacific and Fresno State for first place in the PCAA. Pacific must play Long Beach State and the Aztecs on the road this week while Fresno hosts UC Santa Barbara and UC Irvine.

San Jose State brings a 4-8 conference slate and an 8-16 overall mark into tonight's game at the Sports Arena. That game is a doubleheader, starting at 8 p.m. San Diego State's women host Biola in the first game at 5:45 p.m.

Pacific is 9-3 in PCAA action and 17-7 overall while the Aztecs are 9-3 and 16-8. The Aztecs host the Tigers Saturday in the Sports Arena at 8 p.m.

San Diego State topped San Jose 68-66 in the first meeting between the two clubs. Joel Kramer won that game for the Aztecs with a shot at the buzzer. Aztec center Steve Malovic score 80 points and hit 14 of 15 shots from the floor in that game.

Pacific beat the Aztecs 72-71 in the first meeting between the teams. Russ Coleman paced Pacific with 19 while Kim Goetz scored 18 for SDSU.

The Aztecs grabbed a share of the PCAA lead last week by defeating Fresno State 45-41 and UC Irvine 49-42. In two games last week, the normally high scoring Aztecs scored just 93 points and shot just 39.1 per cent from the field and won two games.

"It's very important to win the conference to get the first round bye in the PCAA playoffs," said Aztec Coach Tim Vezie. "Fresno has a point advantage on us, so if we tie, we would go to the tournament as a second place team. That wouldn't be bad, but we'd like that No. 1 spot."

The PCAA Tournament runs March 24 in the Anaheim Convention Center.

TV 6 to Carry San Diego Soccer

North American Soccer League action will be carried on XETV, Channel 6, this summer with the telecast of San Diego Sockers road games.

With the Sockers playing 15 regular season home games at San Diego Stadium, this television agreement will give local fans numerous chances to see soccer interest in other cities of the NASL.

Negotiations were conducted through the Sockers Marketing Director, Allan Meyer, and XETV Station Manager, Martin Colby. Said Meyer, "Marty and I have come up with a good play to televise professional soccer in San Diego. The next step is to decide which games to carry, and with the caliber of teams on our road schedule we're sure they'll be exciting to watch, no matter which ones they are."

It is expected that several of the games on the Sockers 7-game extended road-tour in June and July will be beamed into the local market. "We have to keep our fans well informed, and seven straight road games is a long time to be away from home," continued Meyer. "We'll start working with the cities within that group and build our telecast schedule from there."

In making the announcement of the agreement, Sockers General Manager Marvin Milkes said, "This is an important step in establishing professional soccer in San Diego, and we're very happy to be associated with XETV."

Racquetball Tourney Qualifying Begins

Local qualifying play has begun on racquetball courts throughout the United States for the Ektelon/Pony IRA National Juniors Tournament.

Local qualifying will close during the weekend on Saturday and Sunday.

According to IRA spokesman, Mike Zeitman, over 50 clubs are hosting the Ektelon/Pony IRA Junior Nationals and upwards of 2,000 players are trying for top national juniors honors.

"This is the largest single program devoted to juniors ever held," said Zeitman. "Hundreds of juniors that have never before experienced the excitement of this type of competition are in for a fantastic thrill. 75% of the juniors will be competing against their own age group for the first time. This tournament is really exciting."

Winners of the local will advance to one of two regional qualifying sites in April, with regional winners being flown by Ektelon and Pony to Detroit to compete in the national finals, May 12-14.

The tournament is sponsored by Ektelon, a San Diego based manufacturer of racquetball racquets and accessories and Pony Sports and Leisure Wear of New York.

Mike Quarry Headlines S.D. Boxing Card Friday

"If Mike Quarry thinks he's going to have a pushover in his fight here Friday against Ronnie Wilson, he's in for a big surprise."

That's the way Coliseum promoter Danny Millsap sees it. "No way Quarry is a heavy favorite," he added.

"Wilson fought Quarry once before and it was a split decision — a close one at that. He fought VonZelle Johnson in Columbus, Ohio recently and they stopped the fight after Ronnie clobbered Johnson. Johnson is ranked no. 2 in Ohio."

McNab Leads In Hockey HoF

Sun Will Set on County's New Sunset Policy

San Diego County has come up with the answer to sunset legislation.

The county has added a sunset set clause to their new sunset policy.

The new policy establishes expiration dates on all ordinances, policies and resolutions adopted by the Board of Supervisors.

In political jargon, legislation which requires expiration dates is known as sunset laws.

Included in the new sunset policy is an expiration date.

If the supervisors don't renew the sunset policy by June 30, 1982, it will expire.

Should the sunset policy expire, all other programs in the county would continue to their expiration dates or into infinity, which ever comes first.

Crackdown Impending for Real Estate Exam Cheaters

If he hadn't run a newspaper ad which read: "Need someone to take my real estate exam. Will pay for your time", Daniel M. Shively of Riverside might be out of Los Angeles criminal court.

Shively was soliciting a proxy to take his real estate exam.

$700,000 Is Price Tag Of State Rec. Study

Some three-quarters of a million dollars will be spent by the California Department of Parks and Recreation — not on new parks — but on a study of recreation activities.

The P and R Department signed a contract with the Stanford Research Institute for a $738,230 study of the recreational needs of California.

According to spokesman for the Department, the study will "develop comprehensive, detailed information on participation (or non-participation) in recreation activities in each of eight major metropolitan population groupings."

The researchers will conduct a Gallop-type poll of California residents as part of the tonnage the report will entail.

Oryx Returned

Arabian oryx, a rare breed of desert antelope nearly jinxed into extinction in 1962, have made a comeback through the aid of the San Diego Wild Animal Park.

The Park recently sent back to the wilds of Jordan, four of the rare animals raised successfully here in captivity.

Now the California Department of Real Estate has begun a crackdown on real estate exam cheaters.

Two cases cited by Real Estate Department Director David H. Fox showed in each instance potential licensees seeking someone else to take the exam.

The second case turned up enough evidence to bring to trial real estate broker Richard Barrie of Moorpark, salesperson Kurt Howard Heisser of Semi Valley.

Barrie allegedly impersonated Heisser, while taking the broker's license exam after Heisser had previously failed it three times on his own.

The key to the exam crackdown, Fox said, was to beef up the security procedures at test sites.

"The Department will not allow the professional integrity of honest real estate licensees to be comprised by the scurrilous conduct of a handful of fraudulent applicants," Fox reiterated.

Tax Breaks are Bigger For Good Record Keepers

By Susanne Williams

Tax return filing season is the time that separates a handful of super organizers from the vast majority of regular mortals. Where super organizers have already filled out and mailed their neatly typed forms, the rest of us are still trying desperately to trace Joe's dental bill and Mary's income statement.

But even we less-perfect record keepers have a good chance to get the mass of papers accumulated and properly listed. A few tips, generously shared with us by the Internal Revenue Service, might help to get this Herculean task accomplished.

For one, this year's tax forms — 1040 and 1040A — are streamlined and easier to fill out. For another, good advice is obtainable from your local IRS office, especially with respect to changes in tax laws.

And what is deductible? — Child care. A tax credit (not exactly a deduction, but a lowering of your total tax liability) is given for child care up to $400 spent during a year for the care of one child. Working couples, in particular, will be available for that form of tax relief. IRS publication 503 (free of charge) provides more details.

Bill Ballance, Radio-TV Star, Joins KFMB

Nationally-known radio personality Bill Ballance will join S.D. radio station 76 KFMB with the famous Bill Ballance Show beginning Monday, March 6, 6 p.m. - 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

"KFMB is just elated to be able to attract a top radio personality 'star' is Ballance is to our market. Ballance's involvement in radio over the past years is legendary," said KFMB station manager Paul Palmer. "Ballance, who was one of the country's most recognized top 40 disc jockeys in the 1950's and 1960's, has become a master of words and a solid communicator," Palmer said.

"Ballance will be taking calls from men and women nightly on a half-dozen provocative topics," said Burton, program director.

Ballance takes a lighthearted leer at love and the human condition with verbal interactions that are tastefully laced with affable innuendo. Ballance claims that there is no such thing as a "dull life or a totally uninteresting person." The so-called ordinary man, says Ballance, is never all together ordinary. All people are famous in their own special way.

Ballance has appeared in the last two years in such television programs as the Merv Griffin Show, The Mike Douglas Show, Tom Snyder's Tomorrow, The Phil Donahue Show, The Irv Kupcinet Show, The Girl in My Life, and Ralph Story Show.

In addition, he co-starred last year opposite Buddy Ebsen and Lee Meriwether on Barnaby Jones; with Barbara Eden and Kay Stevens on Let's Switch. in the Game Ball sequence of NBC's Chance, on Shirley Booth's Touch of Grace and in a full length movie with Tom Laughlin—Billy Jack Goes to Washington.

George Scott To Aid Good In County Race

San Diego County business and civic leader George Scott and Del Mar city council member Nancy Hogver have been named co-chairmen of the Committee to Elect Neil Good Assessor.

Good is a former resident of Lemon Grove and a graduate of Mt. Miguel High School. In the announcement, Good said, "I am honored to have these two distinguished San Diegans agree to head up my campaign efforts."

Scott, active in business and civic affairs, was named San Diego's "Citizen of the Century" for his life-long efforts in behalf of San Diego.

Hoover, a former mayor and now a member of the Del Mar city council, is a stockbroker.

In addition to Hoover and Scott, Good announced that Patrick Krueer of La Jolla, president of Patrick Development, will serve as the campaign finance chairman. Bruce Alber of University City, a real estate salesman, will be treasurer.

Vendors for County To Hire Handicapped

The handicapped will be included in all phases of the affirmative action program for County of San Diego contractors and subcontractors.

The Board of Supervisors unanimously approved an ordinance to amend the affirmative action program code to include the handicapped, plus minority employment goal levels for 1978.

The Board approved the establishment of a first-class County vendor goal of three percent participation rate of the handicapped. County staff will also work to help vendors understand and adapt to the new regulation.

In October of 1977, the Board agreed to comply with the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, requiring HEW fund recipients not to discriminate against the handicapped and requiring all County contractors and subcontractors to take affirmative action in employing the handicapped.

Metric System; How it Works

By John Corbett

TEMPERATURE

HOW STANDARDS WERE ESTABLISHED

Some measurements were easy to establish. It was easy to declare a specific stone to be the unit of weight, and the pharaoh's arm, the unit of measure. But how do you declare a unit of heat? Every man in the village knew it was hotter at noon than it was in the morning, but how much hotter? And how can you say how hot it was today, or how hot it was yesterday, when the temperature keeps changing?

Until the eighteenth century there was no way of accurately measuring temperature.

Galileo made a temperature-indicating device about 1593. A tube, partly filled with water, was inserted into a vessel containing air and water. As the air and water in the vessel heated or cooled its expanding or contracting volume would raise or lower the level of the water in the tube. Unfortunately, the instrument was not accurate, because changing weather conditions (barometric changes) also affected the level of the water in the tube.

Experiments with temperature-indicating instruments continued. About 1714, Gabriel Fahrenheit built a mercury thermometer, similar to the ones in use today.

CELSIUS

Shortly after 1742 Anders Celsius devised a temperature scale which designated the triple point of water as zero. The triple point of water is that temperature at which the three conditions of water, (ice, liquid, and water vapor) exist together in equilibrium.

The boiling point of water was designated 100 degrees.

Because Celsius used 100 gradations between freezing and boiling water his scale was known as the centigrade scale. Centi (100) grade (steps). However, the word "centigrade" should no longer be used because of possible confusion with the unit of angular measurement, the "grade."

Today, Celsius is honored for his work. His temperature scale is properly called, "The Celsius scale" and his temperature increments, "Celsius degrees."

KELVIN

Although the triple point of pure water is a reliable temperature reference for establishing the Celsius zero, colder temperatures exist.

Lord Kelvin reasoned that there must be a theoretical condition wherein all heat would be gone from an object — a condition of absolute zero temperature.

Absolute zero was calculated to be 273.15 degrees below Celsius zero.

The Absolute scale, also called "Thermodynamic Temperature Scale," counts upward, in Celsius increments, from absolute zero.

Although the thermodynamic temperature increments are identical to Celsius increments, the thermodynamic designation for them is the kelvin. The symbol is K.

'Hyper' Workshop Set

Hyperactivity, a cluster of symptoms found in 5% of all children, is the topic of a UCSD extension workshop, March 25, 8 a.m.-5 p.m., at the Sea Lodge, 8110 Camino del Oro, La Jolla Shores, La Jolla. Clinical psychologist Stephen E. Doyne who will talk about "The Hyperactive Child" will be joined by four other specialists to discuss latest research findings. The cost is $4 which includes lunch. This week has been set aside by Congress as National Big Brother's Week.

Opposes Jarvis Initiative

Editor:
Ref: your Dimmer View column of February 16th on the Jarvis-Gann Initiative. I was disappointed in your style in covering this important proposal.

Instead of chuckling with glee over the possible effects this initiative would have on local government, you should be explaining to the voters the real impact of this proposition.

I wonder if taxpayers are willing to accept, along with their 60% reduction in their property taxes, a corresponding reduction in the level of services they enjoy from police, fire and other local governments?

What will be the effect this 60% reduction will have on our library, which depends exclusively on the property tax?

As a candidate for the Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees in the June primary, I am especially concerned with the impact on our school systems.

The effect on the Lemon Grove schools has not been projected.

However, it is projected that the Chula Vista schools will close two months early if Jarvis-Gann passes.

Though Mr. Jarvis thinks that additional funds are available from the State for education, more state funds means more state control.

Local control of our schools must be maintained. And if the State does increase support to schools and other local governments, from where are the tax funds going to come?

Additional state funding will require an increase in our sales and state income taxes.

I suggest that in future columns of the Dimmer View, you educate your readers on the possible effects of Jarvis-Gann. We taxpayers demand property tax relief this year, but it must come through a thoughtful tax relief plan which takes into account the needed services we must have to insure a quality life.

Sincerely,
Chuck Pennell

Editorial Praise

Dear Editor:
Your editorial on the Jarvis-Gann Proposition was very good. Congratulations!

Ed's Note: Thanks. But would you vote for a candidate who is against it?

Jarvis Aids Rich?

February 20, 1978
The Editor:
The Jarvis-Gann Proposition may be a re-run of the emotional appeal that sold the "sales tax" to save the homeowners in the 30's. The great majority of homeowners soon found that the reduction in the property tax was more than doubled by the new sales tax being collected.

Senate Bill Would Deny Teens Unemployment Aid

Unemployment compensation for pre-teens and students under 18 would be prohibited under a bill introduced recently by Senator Dennis E. Carpenter.

"SB 1466 is designed to correct some of the legal abuses of our unemployment compensation system by a number of individuals," explained Carpenter.

As an example, the Newport Beach Republican cited the case of a seven-year-old actress who made periodic commercials and an occasional movie. "During extensive periods of 'unemployment' between jobs, this child collected unemployment insurance checks," Carpenter noted.

The mother deposited these checks, as she did the child's pay for acting, in an account to pay for a college education. "While I admire the mother who saves for her child's education, I do not think this is an appropriate use of the unemployment compensation system," Carpenter said.

SB 1466, as introduced, would prohibit unemployment compensation for any person under age 18. Dennis Carpenter plans to amend the bill to exempt full-time and regular part-time teen-age employees who are not full-time students.

Dog License Renewal Time Ends March 1 - Then Penalty

Owners of dogs in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley are being reminded that it's time to renew expired 1977 licenses.

Although Lemon Grove has achieved cityhood, residents must obtain licenses from the County Office of the Treasurer-Tax Collector or at County Animal Shelters.

Renewal forms were mailed out in December and the forms indicate whether the dog needs to be revaccinated against rabies.

Owners should use the renewal form they received in the mail to avoid possible duplicate billing, according to James E. Jones, treasurer-tax collector. To avoid penalty, renewals should be made before the end of February.

All dogs over four months of age must be vaccinated and licensed. Failure to comply is a misdemeanor subject to citation.

Owners of unlicensed dogs with a certificate showing their dog has been vaccinated since July 1, 1977 may buy a one or two-year license without revaccination. Dogs vaccinated between July 1, 1976 and June 30, 1977 qualify for a one-year license. Vaccinations given before July 1, 1976 are no longer valid for licensing purposes.

License fees are the same as last year's - $6 for a one-year license for spayed or male dogs and $10 for a two-year license. The rates for unspayed females are $12 and $20 for a one-year and two-year license respectively. A late fee of $2 will be charged for payments received after

Imperial Bank Shows Record Income in '77

George M. Eltinge, chairman of the board and George L. Graziadio, vice chairman and president, have announced that Imperial Bancorp., whose chief operating subsidiary is Imperial Bank, achieved record operating income, not income and net income per share for fiscal 1977.

Net interest income and other operating income for the year increased to $22,075,709 in 1977, a 30.9% increase; net income was $3,373,351, an 88.4% increase over the 1976 figure of $1,790,758; and earnings per share were $3.57, compared to $2.12 in 1976. The 1977 figures include $58,014 in security gain, and $960,000 in an extraordinary item of tax benefit arising from a tax loss carryforward.

Imperial has a facility scheduled for operation this year in Lemon Grove on Broadway at Washington.

Special CHP Investigators Hired to Study Fatal Accidents

The California Highway Patrol has received a federal grant of $55,000 to provide special equipment for two Multidisciplinary Accident Investigation Teams (MAIT) to be based in Los Angeles and Sacramento.

East County Commander Capt. C. M. Douglas said the federal funds were approved by the California Office of Traffic Safety for purchase of two specially-constructed vans and equipment for use by the two teams.

Capt. Douglas said each team will be composed of three members from the CHP and one from Caltrans. He said, "The teams will respond to major traffic accident scenes to perform detailed accident reconstruction and to augment the investigations of local commands."

Special equipment to be carried in the two vans includes cameras and photographic material, tape recorders, skid test apparatus, psychrometers to test humidity, and anemometers with compasses to check wind speed and direction.

Douglas listed some of the types of accidents to which the teams will respond: Accidents in which there are four or more fatalities, accidents with two or more fatalities in which one or more trucks are involved, accidents involving spillage or leakage of hazardous materials, and accidents where a possible manufacturing defect was the cause.

Members of each team will include a nonuniformed CHP Motor Carrier Operations Specialist, a CHP sergeant with special training in accident reconstruction, a traffic officer who is an expert on speed and skidding, and a CALTRANS highway engineer. The teams will have access to other specialists such as medical experts and metallurgical engineers.

Douglas said, "The MAIT project is important because in-depth investigations will help to determine the cause of the major, unusual accident and, thus, enable us to take steps to prevent similar accidents in the future."

He said the MAIT teams will be operational by mid-summer.

Noisy Boat Owners Now Will Collect Citations & Fines

SACRAMENTO — The sailors of noisy motorboats who make more racket than the noise-level requirements can now kick up more than a wake.

These operators will pick up a citation and fines from the Department of Parks and Recreation.

State park rangers at Lake Perris, Lake Elsinore, and Silverwood Lake State Recreation Areas are currently contacting the operators of noisy boats and taking them to noise-level test stations.

If the test indicates the noise level is too high, the violator is given a warning or a citation. The operator is not allowed to operate the boat on the lake until defects are corrected. The second time the boat is checked, the owner automatically receives a citation.

Also part of the new crackdown on boaters is tough new regulations governing boat operators under the influence of alcohol.

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C. M. Douglas

Last week the subject for discussion in this column was how far loads legally may stick out from a vehicle.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save you a citation or it could even save your life.

Address your questions in care of this newspaper and please allow at least three weeks for your answer to appear.

This Week's Question:

Recently I read through the Vehicle Code. I couldn't find any law regarding the failure to stop for a school safety patrol stop sign.

What action can be taken against violators?

Answer:

The law you were looking for is found in the Education Code and a violation is a misdemeanor whereas failure to stop for a boulevard stop sign is only an infraction.

The CHP does have the authority to take such a violator to jail, however, a citation is normally issued and the violator is released.
